#ECONEDMONTH RAP BATTLE RULES

In one minute or less, tell us why you think economics is cool. Send us your best #EconEdMonth rap for a chance to win it all!

Want to see an example? Watch Kevin from $martPath bust some ECON rhymes and then challenge your students to become the next #EconEdMonth Rap Master!

How does it work?

K-12 teachers submit their video by October 15th. We accept video files (mov, mp4, wmv, mp4) as a Google Drive, Dropbox, or YouTube links. Be certain your settings allow for us to view your video. Limit of one video per teacher per class. Read the rules below and then enter at <https://qrco.de/RapBattle> or scan the QR code.

Up to 10 videos will be chosen as semi-finalists by our #EconEdMonth team and each semi-finalist team will earn a $100 award sponsored by our friends at the Foundation for Economic Education.

One grand prize winner will be chosen via popular vote in our #EconEdMonth Rap Battle at the end of October. The semi-finalist video with the highest number of online votes will earn their spot as the #EconEdMonth Rap Master. The winning team will earn a $250 award sponsored by Rockonomix and the University of West Georgia Center for Economic Education & Financial Literacy.

What are the rules?

1. The short, 60-seconds (or less) rap should focus on why your students think economics is cool. Be creative!
2. The video/lyrics should be appropriate for K-12 students and free of foul language, drugs, alcohol, etc. Keep it classy.
3. Limit of one video per teacher per class.
4. Submit video by Oct 15th at <https://qrco.de/RapBattle>.
5. Teachers should obtain parental permission for minors to appear in a video submission.
